LAUSD needs costs as well as calendar options.

Hi All,

Please find the attached spreadsheet with four special Election Day scenarios with two hypothetical election call dates. Two of the four scenarios have June 3, 2014 as the runoff date.

Also for your reference is the County's list of the 2014 Scheduled Elections: http://www.lavote.net/voter/PDFS/SCHEDULED_ELECTIONS_2014.pdf There are fifteen cities that scheduled an election on April 8, 2014.

Let me know if you need any further information.

Thanks,
Sharon

Just a reminder to keep these strictly internal at this point. We will need to think through the possibilities, especially because the LAUSD Board must first decide what they would like to do. So this is unlike the other scenarios cited because the first step is for the Board to make a formal decision and request, and only then can Council act to agree and call an election. So the Dec 13 and Dec 20 possible dates for the Council calling the election may not be realistic because they must be preceded by formal action by the LAUSD Board, and we do not know when or how quickly they can act.

Yes, definitely.

These dates outline the most accelerated number of days so can be adjusted.

I agree. These are internal documents for now. However, Jefferson Crain has asked for what his options are for a Special Election both in terms of time and cost. We need to agree on what to tell him.

Looking this over, it seems like a few general points can be made re timing: 1) the general practical deadline for Council to call a special stand-alone vacancy election conducted by the Clerk is approximately E-110 (we've never done it later than then), which means the Board would have to make its decision and formal request to Council at least a few days before E-110; 2) it'll be very difficult to run a stand-alone primary and then the run-off in June 2014, but it depends on how quickly they act and how little time they and the County can handle between primary and runoff (County wants names of candidates by E-81 in their typical consolidation elections, not sure if they would need names 81 days in advance of a run-off). I can talk this afternoon, do you want to do a quick call to discuss what to convey to Jefferson at this point?

That would be helpful for me.

Also, are we sure we can get the equipment from the County prior to their June Primary?

I am available any time now. I have a call into Sharon as well. The last day Council meets before the break is Wed. December 18, 2013. They are back in session on January 7, 2014.

EZ put in a call to Jon Kato at the County regarding supplies. They'll talk again next week, but tentatively, April could be doable, but how much we need is really important. Based on the 2011 numbers, the estimated number provided was 300. However, the number can change after getting the most recent precincts. May and June is not doable as the County will need to prepare the equipment for the June election.

Early indications from Jefferson Crain are that the Board will not meet prior to December 17. (However, this could change.)
